Opinions – photos – facts about the 1st competition session

The opinions

After the first nerve wracking competition day on the 9th July, every team had similar impressions. The biggest problems were that the competitors couldn't complete the tasks in time and it was hard for them to concentrate for 5 hours. The general opinion was that the second task called 'Race' was the most difficult, but most of them could deal with the exercises. The charts below show how the contestants succeeded. ☒

Happy Birthday!

Extracts from the history of our school – Part 3

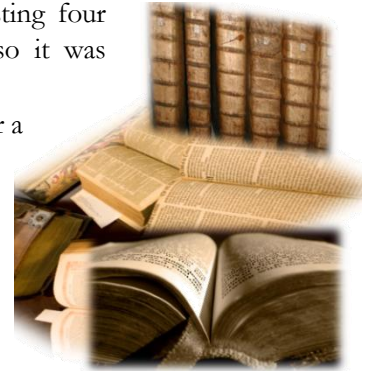

by Éva Barsi, Ágnes Major-Rochlitz, Anna Sóvágó

The origins of today's 'Eötvös'...

The changing necessities in the 1880s generated the thought to expand the existing four forms into six forms. More and more pupils applied to the secondary school so it was modernised in 1891 and 1892.

This modernisation was satisfactory only for a short period and soon the demand for a new school building was inevitable. The construction work started on the 16th of September, in 1911 and it was so dynamic that at the beginning of the academic year in 1912 three classes could start in the new building and they were soon followed by the remaining four classes in October. The eighth class was started in September, 1913 and the first matura exams took place between 15th and 18th of June, in 1914.
